

|BETWEEN HOURS| presents

THE FREUD CAFE

OEDIPUS ARISTOTLE AND FREUD

With speaker: Charles Hanly

PROFESSOR EMERITUS (PHILOSOPHY, UT) | PROLIFIC AUTHOR
FORMER IPA PRESIDENT | WORLD-RENOWN PSYCHOANALYST

|BETWEEN HOURS| is a public forum talk series brought to you by tps&i in partnership with

CAVERSHAMbooksellers

TUE 23 SEP 2014 | 7:30 - 9 PM | CUPS CAFE*

*Cups Cafe is located at 35-35 St. Joseph Street, Toronto (just east of Bay St.)
Parking lot located across from cafe; street parking also available.

Out of doubt and remorse for banishing tragic poets from his ideal republic, Plato expressed the hope that someone would offer a defense of tragedy. Aristotle's Poetics is that defense.

Want to come prepared for the argument? Read:

Plato, Republic Bk. 10

Aristotle, Poetics, section on tragedy

Hanly, C. (1992). Psychoanalysis and Aesthetics (especially pp.88-92) and An Unconscious Irony In Plato's Republic pp. 135-154, both in:

The Problem of Truth in Applied Psychoanalysis. New York: Gullford B

FREE EVENT | OPEN TO THE PUBLIC