Why do we Need to Remember our Dreams?

Joshua Levy, PhD is a Psychoanalyst in private practice, Training and Supervising analyst of the Canadian Psychoanalytic Society, Associate Professor Emeritus in the Department of Psychiatry of the University of Toronto, on faculty at the Toronto Institute of Psychoanalysis and a faculty member of the Toronto Institute of Contemporary Psychoanalysis. Dr. Levy has published papers on dreams and on supervision in psychoanalysis, including a comparative work on dreams. He has presented workshops on analytic listening, trauma, and dreams in the psychoanalytic process, and has conducted several workshops which were based on a method that aimed at understanding and interpreting psychoanalysis from multiple points of view.
